

ProInversión

Private Investment Promotion Agency - Peru

Peru:

Information on migratory status and types of Visas

The procedures in migrations to be followed by a foreigner interested in staying in Peru to carry out activities different from tourism must be done in the National Superintendence of Migrations – MIGRACIONES, with the exception of the business visa which can be requested in the Consulate of Peru in the city where the foreigner is located.

Most requested types of visas and migratory status related to the establishment of investments in Peru

1. Business:

Temporary visa for those who enter Peru, with no intention of residence, in order to take part in business, legal or similar activities (e.g. constitution of a company).

Maximum stay	183 calendar days
Extension	No

2. Independent:

Within this category are included investors who seek temporary or residence visa to enter Peru with the purpose of carrying out investment activities.

Maximum stay	Temporary: Up to 90 calendar days Residence: 01 year
Extension	Temporary: Up to 01 year Residence: 01 year

3. Designated worker:

Temporary visa for those workers who enter Peru sent by its employer abroad, for a restricted and defined period, in order to perform a specific task or function or a job that requires professional, commercial, technical or highly specialized knowledge.

Maximum stay	Up to 90 calendar days
Extension	Up to 01 year

4. Worker:

Temporary or residence visa for those who enter the country with the purpose of carrying out labor activities due to a contract with a local entity previously approved by the Ministry of Labor and Employment Promotion (www.mintra.gob.pe).

Maximum stay	Temporary: Up to 90 calendar days Residence: 01 year
Extension	Temporary: Up to 01 year Residence: 01 year

Those who have obtained a specific type of visa can change their migratory status as needed or extend the migratory status of the foreigner to his family (children, partner, parents and dependent people).

To check the specific requirements that must be presented to obtain each of the aforementioned visas, visit: www.migraciones.gob.pe

DISCLAIMER: All data and information contained in this document are merely referential. The sole authority regarding Peruvian migrations regime is the National Superintendence of Migrations.